The Gatlinburg Sky Lift project began with a phone call from Boyne Resorts corporate office, asking if we could possibly shoot a few photos and a little video of their upcoming tower installation process. This project quickly evolved into a 7 camera shoot. To say we were running our tails off was an understatement. The crews who installed the new chair lift towers set the entire mountain in 2.5 hours. Our photographers and video crews were constantly on the move to capture the fast pace action from multiple vantage points.
